The Building Boom

is now on and the demand for lumber is very keen. If you want to get materials on the ground in time for your building you had better order from us at once. The undecided man puts things off. He always waits until tomorrow so he can change his mind. Then he waits until the next day so he can change it back again. In the meantime, lumber gets scarce, prices go up and he blames the lumber combine. Alberta lumber is scarce now, but we are shipping in B.C. lumber as fast as we can get it, at the rate of a car a day, and we can take care of your order if you give us a chance.

FLYTIME is now here and the flies are always punctual. Better place your orders at once for screens, doors and windows. It is much easier to keep out the flies than to drive them out when they get in.

THE FRANK DEARST

Calgary Herald.

The time of the disaster was 4:15 Wednesday morning when the residents of the town were awakened by a deafening tumult and a shaking of buildings which seemed as if it would rattle them into complete demolition. Of all the town inhabitants numbering nearly 1,500 not one professes to have reached the outside of their domain in time to see any part of what took place but when day dawned it was seen that the whole side of Turtle mountain had fallen away, and the country extending from the eastern edge of the town for two miles down the pass and entirely across the pass, a distance of two miles or more from the mountain, lay buried beneath rock and debris of various kinds for a depth varying from twenty-five to one hundred feet.

In its sweep the great slide, if slide it were, or upheaval, if that be the more proper characterization, demolished and carried away the entire operating plant of the Coal company, the triple boiler and engine house, electric light plant, railway scales, shops and a row of coke ovens, destroying seven houses owned by the company, burying six of them, with most of their occupants and likewise burying ten other habitations situated in the valley of the town, together with every soul within them.

The scene of the catastrophe was originally one of great picturesque beauty, being the valley of the Old Man's river which forms the eastern slope of the Crow's nest Pass. Turtle mountain, a sheer wall of limestone, rising to a height of 3,500 feet above the level of the town forms the southern side of the pass. A valley, somewhere over a mile wide but between Turtle mountain and the foothills of a rocky range of mountains to the north. The Old Man's river flowing through the valley follows closely, to the side of Turtle mountain right up against the foot of which the major portion of the town is built, the mountain wall being so straight up that, on the longest day in summer the sun sets in the town at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The coal mine of the Canadian-American Coal and Coke Company, of more properly the seam being worked, extends along the side of Turtle mountain in a parallel direction. It is a vertical vein worked from a tunnel up. It was immediately over the workings that the mountain fell away burying some houses to a depth of more than one hundred feet. It was a slide it came down the mountain crossed the valley and went up the foothills on the opposite side to a height far above any building in the town, converting cozy homes and property of great value into a waste, leaving the appearance of their having been buried by a volcanic eruption, valueless for any purpose for all time. As there is no geological expert on the ground it is impossible to determine the true character of the force exerted. Many hold to the belief that it was the result of an earthquake which caused the mountain to fall. Others believe it to have been a limestone upheaval, while others think it was simply a slide caused possibly by the time rock sinking under the influence of the thawing weather of spring.

EDMONTON EXHIBITION

Nor' west Farmer.

The Edmonton industrial exhibition is destined to become one of the great annual events of the future and will exert a powerful influence upon the development of this portion of the west. The association has a capital stock of $20,000 fully subscribed, and so prosperous has the show been that the shares have doubled in value in three years. Forty-three acres, within the town limits, beautifully situated on the Saskatchewan river, comprise the site, which is provided with waterworks and electric light. The exhibitions held here have been successful. The first year a $1,000 grant on improvement was secured, the second, and $2,000 the third. The expenses of the show will be expended this season. The dates of the show will be June 29th and 30th, and July 1st and 2nd and prize list is $10,000. A fine program will be provided. The show will deserve the patronage of "Farmer's Advocate" readers, and its excellence as an exhibition and the fame and wonderful future of the Edmonton country should attract live stock and other exhibitors, not only from Manitoba, but from Ontario and other portions of Eastern Canada. Edmonton is the headquarters for the International agricultural exhibitions of 1910.

Klondyke output

Seattle, Wash., April 27.—A special from Dawson says sluicing out all the creeks in the Klondike begins today. The estimated output for the present year is given at fifteen million dollars as against twenty-one million dollars last year.

Governor Congdon makes the statement that Canada will not establish an assay and gold purchasing office at Dawson. This means that Seattle will continue to handle nearly all the northern gold.

Overland trail traffic has ceased, and river navigation it is expected, will open by May 20.
